Comments about Nominee:

Chisa has provided amazing leadership among faculty in her work for the Academic Senate, including stepping up as Vice President when no one else was willing. She also has offered great leadership in her work with the Campus Sustainability Plan. She is also an outstanding advocate for students, offering social justice advocacy and support at our student walkout event, advising and effort for our Price Center students, and work with the Library team to advance equity and improve accessibility and library resources. She created the collaborative online work group for our One campus, One Book project. In general - she shows up and shows up prepared for everything she does, and she puts students first in all her work.

She is SO willing to help students that she actually did a SKYPE on her home during her personal time for one of my night classes to answer their research questions. She shows up when requested and is always thoroughly prepared.

I'd love to honor Chisa to support faculty who go beyond their obligations in service. She is making things better for students, faculty, the college as a whole, and even the planet!
